Comrades, I am writing with a heavy heart to tell you that Operation Retribution has failed. Ms. [REDACTED] (Codename: Corn Flake) demonstrated to me today at lunch that she did, in fact, listen to one of the mixes I gave her with care and attention. She reported that her favorite track, from Volume One (Entitled "White People Music: Classic Rock"), was Dusty Springfield's "Spooky." A fine track indeed. She further demonstrated her genuine attention to the mix by citing the lack of female artists and producing a page of detailed listening notes.

As you are all aware, Operation Retribution included the following consequences if Corn Flake did not listen (and listen carefully) to my most generous gift of white people music:

- Stealing of computer monitor
- Re-calibration of chair height
- Empty printer of paper
- Dulling of all pencils and stealing of all pen caps
- General mayhem

These many and varied sabotages would have been deliciously evil to implement. I know you are disappointed. I know you were eager to see the total mental and physical breakdown of Corn Flake.

Comrades, take pride in this: She was scared. So scared of the potential consequences of not listening that she actually listened to the mixes after several months of putting it off. My heart is warmed by the sheer gut-busting panic our scheme must have inspired.

Comrade [REDACTED] (Codename: Squarsh), Comrade [REDACTED] (Codename: Stinky Food), Comrade [REDACTED] (Codename: Ninja-type Person), I hail thee. Await instructions for a new Corn

Flake Behavior Modification Program (Codename: Operation Fart Bomb) which will arrive shortly via transponder.

As always,

Secrecy

Evil
